Part
	Check if Schedule O contains a response or note to any line in this Part III
1	Briefly describe the organization's mission:
	Conservancy promotes, improves, develops, facilitates & defends Free, Libre, and Open Source Software (FLOSS) projects and provides a non-profit home & infrastructure for FLOSS projects. Conservancy directly handles many key tasks & urgent needs for its projects mostly created by volunteer software developers. Conservancy helps developers focus on improving FLOSS for the public Projects include: education software for schools, integrated library service systems, and embedded software for electronic devices.
2	Did the organization undertake any significant program services during the year which were not listed on the prior Form 990 or 990-EZ?
•	If "Yes," describe these new services on Schedule O.
3	Did the organization cease conducting, or make significant changes in how it conducts, any program services?
	If "Yes," describe these changes on Schedule O.
4	Describe the organization's program service accomplishments for each of its three largest program services, as measured by expenses. Section 501(c)(3) and 501(c)(4) organizations are required to report the amount of grants and allocations to others the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.
	the total expenses, and revenue, if any, for each program service reported.
40	(Code:) (Expenses $ 184,481 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 5,645)
4a
	FLOSS development, documentation, mentoring, & project support: During the tax year, Conservancy engaged 10 different software developers as independent contractors to improve the software in its jQuery, PyPy, Sugar Labs, Twisted, and Non-Profit Accounting software projects. This work generated many thousands of new lines of software code. The code was released freely to the public under copyright licenses that encourage the general public to use, share, & modify it. These contractors also worked diligently with the community to coordinate volunteer software developers to contribute further software code. In addition to these 10 contracts, 52 other developers mentored student software developers during a summer participation program. These developers helped the students get involved with FLOSS development and contribute new code to the projects. In addition to helping students improve their software development skills, their new code was also made available to the public, as described above. Finally, Conservancy staff assists volunteers in our projects on a daily basis to acclimate to and make best use of the services available from a non-profit fiscal sponsor, including our full range of services listed at https://sfconservancy.org/members/services/, which include administrative, coordination, legal, and infrastructural assistance to volunteer software developers.
4b	(Code:) (Expenses $ 370,245 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 233,907)
76	Facilitating FLOSS conferences: During the tax year of 2013, Conservancy planned, organized and ran one conference each for its Boost, Evergreen, and Selenium projects. Additionally, Conservancy coordinated and funded a few smaller "hackfest" events, and also funded travel expenses for staff's and volunteers' attendance at 23 different third-party software conferences. These events allow the volunteer software developers and Conservancy staff to speak about their work to the general public, teach the general public how to use and improve their software, and generally promote the use, adoption and improvement of Conservancy's member projects. Additionally, these conferences provide an opportunity for software developers to meet and rapidly work closely together to make improvements to the software, and release those improvements immediately to the general public.
4c	(Code:) (Expenses $ 24,587 including grants of $) (Revenue $ 0)
	License Compliance Activity: Many of Conservancy's projects are available under "copyleft" licenses, such as the GNU General Public License (GPL). "Copyleft" licenses are copyright licenses which allow everyone to freely share, copy, modify, and install modified versions of the software. However, "copyleft" licenses additionally require that everyone who receives the software has an equal right to engage in those activities.
	Conservancy identifies situations where distributors fail to meet those requirements. Conservancy then enforces the copyright license, thereby requiring these distributors to provide the same rights to copy, share, modify & install modified versions of the software to all those who receive the software distribution (just as those distributors had initially received those rights).
	Through this process, Conservancy ensures that the general public has equal rights to use, improve, & study the software, and to experiment with their own modifications to the software. Rarely, in particularly egregious cases of GPL violation, Conservancy does seek remedy in the courts through copyright litigation, but no litigation was undertaken nor pursued during this tax year.
	The primary goal of all these copyright enforcement activities is always to ensure that all who receive copies of the copylefted software (or modified versions thereof) can freely engage in copying, modifying, improving & installing modified versions.
4d	Other program services (Describe in Schedule O.)
